Supporting your Child's "Big Emotions" After School

Your child goes to school in a good mood, keeps it together all day and then comes home and falls apart. The crying, the yelling- it's like a totally different child. Why do kids who had a good day at school unravel when they get home? In this session, we will:

- Address the underlying issues that are causing the big emotions after school
- Discuss how children can express their emotions in a healthy way
- Review strategies to address their behaviors at home
- Identify collaborative tools parents can use with their child's teacher
